TWICE AS FAST: BRIGHT HOUSE NETWORKS INCREASES SPEED OF PREMIUM HIGH-SPEED INTERNET AT NO ADDED COST TO CUSTOMERS

INDIANAPOLIS (Wednesday, April 23, 2008) – Starting today, Bright House Networks customers who subscribe to the company's premium High Speed Internet service can upload videos and photos twice as fast as before and download music files and DVD-quality movies in mere minutes with the launch of Road Runner Turbo.

Bright House Networks has upgraded its premium High Speed Internet service to Road Runner Turbo at 15 megabits per second downstream and two megabits per second upstream. Previously, the service was at 10 Mbps downstream and one Mbps upstream. The faster speed will be provided at no additional cost to any customer who currently subscribes to Bright House Networks premium High Speed Internet (10Mbps) service.

"Throughout all of our divisions in the nation, we've upped the speed of our premium High-Speed Internet plan to better serve the more demanding needs of our customers," said Buz Nesbit, president of Bright House Networks Indiana. "Our customers have a real need for speed as they utilize the Internet to upload their personal photos and video and download their music and video of choice. With the launch of Road Runner Turbo Gamers will notice quicker responses. And families with more than one networked computer will definitely be able to browse quicker and more efficiently."

Bright House Networks' High Speed Internet allows customers to choose from a variety of speeds that are faster than dialup and DSL. All Bright House Networks High Speed Internet service options include CA Internet Security Suite 2007 with anti-virus software, firewall with pop-up blocker and anti-spam programs. PureSight Parental Controls is also included and allows users the ability to block specific sites and create separate profiles for each family member that limits Web time. Wireless home networking is an available feature for customers wishing to connect multiple computers throughout the household and is included with Road Runner Turbo. And customers who choose to package their High Speed Internet service with video and voice plans can choose to receive one convenient monthly bill for all services.
